We cannot think there will be any more difficulty with regard to the latter point here than there is in Shanghai, where the church has never the Government for specific services, on the points raised in it: [339] such as attendance at the hospital and gaol, will go some way to make up the incumbent's stipend. As to the future of the Cathedral, the question will arise whether it should be vested in a lay committee or a ITALIAN AND AMERICAN MARBLE Church body. At Shanghai it is by a lay committee that the Cathedral is managed and the appointment of Chaplain made. Seeing, however, that there is a Bishop resident in Hongkong it would be rather incongruous to exclude him from a share in the matter. The decision will therefore probably be in favour of a Church body with the Bishop at its head, the other members being elected by the scatholders. It will be neces. sary, of course, to pass an Ordinance to arrange for the transfer from the old to the A. S. Theoretically a considerable alteration will be effected in the position o the Church by the change. The Church of South Africa has repudiated the decisions of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council as not binding on a Church which had no longer the character of an Establish. ment and it is conceivable that some similar question might trise here. The contingency, however, is a remote one, and for all practs cal purposes it may be taken that the only real difference between the new and old eystems will be that the congregation will have to contribute more liberally than they have hitherto been accustomed to do and that they will have a voice in the selec-

But on theother hand weare interested in a double capacity, that of French us nand that of large consumars of coal. In the latter capacity our opinion ought to have a cartain value. You cannot fail to be struck by the perfect agreement of the conclusions stated in the reports of five different officers, who had themselves no other interest in the question then that of our Compan. If the coal had been bad they should have been the first to so advise me, the more so insumuch as in using a fuel to which their firemen were not acoustomed, and which would consequently have o be handled in a special manner, they would have to combat habits already arquired and exercise a constant surveillance over the fires, which could not fail to be inksome at first. But, as you can see by looking at the I fferent reports, which, however, it would be useless to insert in your jour-al on account of their numerous technical details, the intelligent perseverance of our engineers has be n growned with a ogess. Hongkong, 10th January, 1991. NOW ON SALE. IMPERIAL QUARTO. TANGLISH AND CHINESE DIC'IONARY.

WITH THE PUSTI AND MANDARIN PRONUNCIATION. An Angle-Chinese Dictionary, published at the Daily Press Office. Hongkong. For comprehensiveness and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and inscience generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extenso. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given the accents being carefully marked on the best principle bitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of attained, and dispensing with those vast margins and vacant spaces which have heretofore characterized Chinese publications. To illustrate the vast scope of the work the following facts are submitted for consideration:— Chalmers' Vocabulary contains about 16,000 Chinese characters, and Medburst's English and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst this work contains more than 50,000 English words, and upwards of 600,000 Chinese characters. Again, despite all the grammars and other elementary works as yet published, the cations and equivalents of different words which have one general meaning. Of these examples this work contains more than five times as many as any other Dictionary hitherto pub-For practical purposes the arrangement of the work is so complete, that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effectively with natives who understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans residing in China, and to the natives themselves it explains subjects fully with which very few indeed of them are perfectly acquainted. To parties resident in England and interested an China it cannot but be invaluable occasion-

space, achieving a clearness not previously

It comprises upwards of two thousand large quarto pages 4 Vols. IMPERIAL QUARTO, Price. $20. A Large REDUCTION in PRICE is made to Purchasers of SIX or more Copies.
